Conference Problematic

Cultural heritage is considered a link between the past and the present, so it is a common legacy for all present and future generations. Moreover, it constitutes the basis of national identity, and any violation of it is considered a violation of the latter.

From this perspective, it is necessary to work on assuring the sustainability of cultural heritage, especially in light of the flagrant violations that cultural property has been exposed to, whether in times of peace or war, which required the conclusion of many international agreements, and the issuance of recommendations as well as decisions, in addition to the creation of international bodies that take upon themselves the issue of cultural heritage's sustainability and its protection from any threats

Due to the insufficiency of international law alone in providing protection for cultural heritage, many national legislators have adopted various laws that work on ensuring the legal, administrative as well as physical protection to cultural heritage, through the establishment of mechanisms and bodies that guarantee the protection of cultural heritage and work on its sustainability for the benefit of present and future generations alike, especially in the era of digital development that touched all fields.

Based on the foregoing, the problematic that we will try to address through this national conference will be: "How effective is the protection of cultural heritage within the framework of sustainable development at the international and national levels in the shadow of technological development?"

To answer this problematic, we call and welcome the various contributions of professors, students, and experts from the entire universities, institutions, and concerned administrations with all that enriches and increases the outcomes of this subject.
