The problematic of the study day:

The African Court on Human and Peoples' Rights is a continental court established by African countries to ensure the protection of human and peoples' rights in Africa. It complements and reinforces the role of the African Commission on Human and Peoples' Rights. Established under Article 1 of the Protocol to the African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights Establishing an African Court on Human and Peoples' Rights, adopted by the Member States of the former Organization of African Unity (OAU) in Ouagadougou, Burkina Faso, June 1998. The protocol entered into force on January 25, 2004. Algeria is one of the countries that have ratified this protocol.

The purity and legitimacy of any human rights system depends on its efficiency and effectiveness in protecting and promoting respect for the human rights guaranteed to all. The attempt to address the effectiveness of this court in the protection of human and peoples' rights comes up against several obstacles, and to remedy this, our study will attempt to answer the following question: What is the system legal framework of the African Court
